Land of Stories

Top five reasons to hold your meeting or event in the Czech Republic

- ① Only a few places on Earth can offer such an untouched wealth of culture and history alongside sophisticated global businesses, modern convention centers and congress halls, cutting edge technological infrastructure, style and comfort.
- ② The Czech Republic is a very safe destination and safety is extremely important in today's world. Both large international event attendees and ordinary tourists arrive in the country every day to enjoy pleasant and safe stay.
- ③ You always get good value for your money. The selection of quality venues, accommodation and programs is broad, and the high quality comes at reasonable and competitive prices.
- ④ The country's capital Prague is a real gem. And more gems are scattered across the country which is rather small so it is possible to see most of them in a relatively short time, be it Český Krumlov, Kutná Hora, Telč or Třebíč.
- ⑤ The country is ideally located in the very heart of Europe and is easily reachable from almost everywhere.

And yet another reason:

The Czech Republic is the land of castles and chateaux that are worth visiting. Some of their owners used to work in diplomatic services. Major aristocrats held positions of ambassadors, initiated or organized important European peace projects and have been forever inscribed in European cultural history. The Emperor's ambassador, Humprecht Jan Černín of Chudenice, had a Baroque palace built in Prague. Since 1934, the palace has been the seat of the Czech Ministry of Foreign Affairs. One of the foreign ministers was also Prince Karel Schwarzenberg. And number of Prague's magnificent palaces house foreign diplomatic missions today.

Kynžvart Chateau

The Metternich family built a baroque castle on the site of a Renaissance fortress. In 1820, an Austrian politician and diplomat, Chancellor Klemens von Metternich, began the chateau's next renovation in the Viennese classicist style supervised by Viennese architect Pietro Nobile. There is a golf course in the chateau park with ponds, gazebos and sculptures. Various art collections with unique Egyptian sarcophagi, Greek vases and excavations from Pompeii are of exceptional value.

THE REGION OF KARLOVY VARY IS THE TRADITIONAL DESTINATION

The Carlsbad Convention Bureau

Carlsbad Convention Bureau is a neutral partner – the central information and contact point for the congress and incentive tourism in Karlovy Vary Region.

Within its functioning, the Bureau supports clients in planning MICE events in the Region, provides them with complete information on latest offers of congress and meeting venues in the Region, helps with the selection of suitable meeting and conference locations and draws suitable accompanying programmes....

The Region of Karlovy Vary has been a crossroads of European cultures since time immemorial. The region is characterized by the unique environment of the spa towns, hot and cold curative springs, fairy-tale like architecture, a number of historical monuments, large spa forests, and beautiful countryside. The world-famous towns of Karlovy Vary, Mariánské Lázně, Františkovy Lázně and Cheb offer a well-developed infrastructure and perfect services. The excellent access and dense transport network underline the advantages for organizing the MICE events (Meetings, Incentives, Conferences, Events/Exhibitions).

10 REASONS WHY TO CHOOSE THE KARLOVY VARY REGION FOR YOUR MICE EVENT:

- The world-famous spa town Karlovy Vary lies in the middle of Europe
- Perfect accessibility and a highly developed infrastructure with an international airport
- Hotels of all categories, tradition and history mix with a high standard of services
- Congress rooms of all sizes, always with a qualified staff, professional and individual attitude
- Extensive experience and tradition in organizing the MICE events
- A wide offer of supporting programmes – spa and wellness programmes, cultural, sports and social events
- The genius loci of the town, a unique atmosphere, unique architecture and historical sights
- Theatres, cinemas, concerts, museums, galleries, horse racing and festivals
- The biggest concentration of golf courses in the Czech Republic
- High safety of the place

Šternberk Castle

The extensive castle complex with rich decorations ranging from Gothic to Art Nouveau has been renovated in the spirit of romantic historicism. At least two of the personalities who dwelt at the castle significantly shaped its appearance and the direction of European diplomacy and politics. Albrecht II of Sternberk often accompanied Emperor Charles IV on his diplomatic tours throughout Europe. Later on, Franz Joseph of Liechtenstein used his diplomatic skills in Russia to renew Russia's relations with Austria-Hungary.

Why Olomouc Region?

The Olomouc Region is an ideal destination for events for corporate clients in the diverse region of Central Moravia and the Jeseníky Mountains.

Central Moravia, located on the historic route between Vienna and Krakow, is full of rich history, major architectural and religious monuments and many romantic castles and châteaux. Olomouc is, after Prague, the largest urban conservation area in the Czech Republic. The historical centre features a UNESCO World Heritage site - the Holy Trinity Column.

The Jeseníky Mountains are an undiscovered paradise. Nowhere else in Central Europe can the visitors find a similar combination of such a harsh, yet scenic landscape.

The Central Moravia & Jeseníky Convention Bureau

The Central Moravia & Jeseníky Convention Bureau provides organisers with assistance and independent comprehensive information when planning and holding congresses, conferences, business meeting and incentive events. Central Moravia and the Jeseníky Mountains offer a number of meeting and conference venues, the largest of which can accommodate more than 1,000 participants.

Top reasons to choose the Olomouc Region

- Ideal meeting location
- Perfect venue for every occasion, with top quality accommodation to match
- Culture and heritage
- A large selection of Social Programmes
- A team of experts at your service.

Pardubice Castle

The original water castle was gradually expanded and transformed into a large Renaissance residence for the Pernštejn family, in the immediate vicinity of the historic city center. The elements of the late Gothic and Early Renaissance blend into the sgraffito facade of this fortified palace. In addition to other museum expositions, visitors may also see a rare civil defence shelter in the fortifications. William II of Pernstein, and later also Vratislav II of Pernstein were excellent diplomats who served their sovereigns.

Welcome to Eastern Bohemia

Eastern Bohemia boasts many attractive places, castles, chateaus, churches and other monuments. Situated 100 km east of Prague and 60 km from the Polish border, formed by Orlické and Králický Sněžník Mountains, this region represents an ideal place for winter and summer relaxation. The biggest city of the region is Pardubice which is famous also for making gingerbread and horse-race Velká pardubická steeplechase. The town of Litomyšl with its Renaissance castle (UNESCO heritage) and the birthplace of well-known composer Bedřich Smetana is another great venue for incentive and conference tourism.

Eastern Bohemia is very easily accessible because of its central location within the Czech Republic. The distance from Prague to the capital of the region, Pardubice, is 100 km. The highway D11 leading from Prague to Pardubice lies just 5 km in front of the city centre. Pardubice city is equipped with an international railway junction and there is an international airport too! Those interested in history are attracted both by historic centres and by the castles Kunětická hora, Lichnice, Litice, Rychmburk and Svojanov.

East Bohemia Convention Bureau offers following services for free:

- organizing of MICE events in Pardubice Region assistance
- advising and consultancy for choosing of the most suitable congress and meeting area
- advising and consultancy for selection of required type of accommodation
- sightseeing tour of certain areas arranging
- brochures providing

East Bohemia Convention Bureau

East Bohemia Convention Bureau is a regional office established within Destination Management Company East Bohemia. Its aim is to promote undertakers who offer services in the field of congressional, corporate and incentive tourism and also to coordinate congressional tourism in Pardubice Region.

This region offers ideal conditions for arranging of mid-size MICE events due to high-quality supply of services. What is more, it can be found many suitable places for incentive programs here. Pardubice Region presents a safe destination in the centre of Europe.

Buchlovice Chateau

This Baroque jewel is one of the noble mansions with extensive art collections where Leopold II Berchtold lived. His diplomatic service in Paris, London and Russia exceeds the country's borders with its significance. Some of the interiors of the chateau are appointed with original furnishings and the halls feature remarkable stucco décor. The sloping terrain required the chateau garden to be terraced. It was first conceived as Italian and French, and later expanded to an English park.

East Moravia an excellent choice for a meeting and relaxation

You will find a unique tourist region in the Czech Republic – East Moravia. For a compact area, it provides a very diverse offer of tourist and spa resorts, exceptional regional gastronomy, live folklore and an extensive offer.

The regional city of Zlín is a functionalistic pearl of modern architecture. Its present day form was significantly affected by the world-renowned shoe making company Bata, which has its roots here. Numerous modern facilities are offered here, such as the Academic Centre of the local university.

The picturesque spa town of Luhačovice lies not far from Zlín. It is a highly sought after destination by all those who want to streng then their health and it is even popular among participants and organizers of conferences, congresses and company events. It disposes of rooms with a capacity for 100 to 450 participants, plus an offer a high quality accommodation, superior gastronomy, relaxation and adventure activities. Among others, the meeting of the ministers of labour and social affairs of the EU was held here during the period when the Czech Republic chaired the European Union.

Complete services for organizing conferences, congresses, trainings or creative team-building events are also offered by wellness hotels in the untouched nature of the Beskydy Mountain massif. For example the Valachy resort offers two quality hotels with a total capacity of up to 200 beds and 6 fully equipped meeting rooms, of which the largest can hold up to 250 persons. The option to alternate work stress with active rest and relaxation makes this an attractive destination.

The attractiveness of East Moravia is accentuated by the preserved historical facilities, for example the dignified rooms of the Archbishop's chateau in Kroměříž, in which a number of films were created (one of which is Forman's Amadeus), or the rooms in the chateau in Holešov, Napajedla or Bojkovice will shed an unforgettable atmosphere of uniqueness and refinement on each event.

East Moravia also has an extensive offer of accompanying activities and incentive stays. You can enjoy adrenaline adventures such as hot air ballooning, riding scooters or parachute jumping, plus savour a cruise on the Bata Channel, a visit to a wine cellar, sample local cuisine and enjoy live folklore.

The local office for supporting congress tourism will be your assistant in organizing your events in this diverse region.

Hrádek u Nechanic Chateau

This Harrach family castle with an English park and a golf course was built in the Tudor Gothic style. The builder was inspired by the renovation of Crewe Hall in England. The antique furnishings are complemented by various modern amenities such as digital clocks, a modern boiler and underfloor heating. Ferdinand Bonaventura I of Harrach was famous Austrian statesman and diplomat appointed to Madrid.

Kunštát Castle and Chateau

One of the oldest castles in Moravia, the family seat of the lords of Kunštát and a place of dwelling for the young future Czech King George of Poděbrady, who in 1464 presented a draft of the Treaty on the General Peace Organization of the Christian States to other European rulers. The castle was gradually remodelled into a Renaissance and Baroque chateau. During the last phase of refurbishment, the chateau interiors were returned to how they appeared when the last noble owners lived there.

Hradec nad Moravicí Chateau

Princes of the Lichnovský family had the chateau renovated in the Empire style, nevertheless remnants of its Renaissance look are preserved in the Renaissance vaults and stucco decorations. A Neo-Gothic Red Chateau was built close to the entrance to the English park. The princes also had the interiors modernized, and eventually ordered the White Tower to be built. Karel Maxmilián Lichnovský acted as a German diplomat and hosted Emperor William II here. An international interpretive music contest commemorates the stay of Ludwig van Beethoven.

Benešov nad Ploučnicí Château

The chateau complex of the Upper and Lower Chateaux, three palaces, a church and a chapel is a unique example of architecture from the Saxon Renaissance period on the territory of Bohemia, and it has been almost completely preserved in its original form. The architecture is complemented by expositions showing the life of lower gentry at the mansion in the 16th and 17th centuries. For almost 20 years, Benešov Castle belonged to Wilhelm Kinsky of Vchynice, who was a diplomat in the service of Albrecht of Wallenstein.

Horšovský Týn Castle and Chateau

From the original castle, only the cellars carved in rock and the Gothic chapel have been preserved. After a fire, the castle was rebuilt into a monumental Renaissance mansion. The interiors show the castle's furnishings from the 16th century until the beginning of the 20th century. An imperial diplomat, Count Maximilian Trauttmansdorff who occasionally worked in the diplomatic service at the Papal and Spanish courts and participated in the Westphalian peace talks, made the mansion the family seat of the Trauttmansdorffs.

The spa-like atmosphere of the surrounding mountainous countryside makes the hotel an ideal destination for relaxation and rehabilitation, congress tourism and tourism all year round.

PILSEN REGION

Plzeňský kraj (Pilsen Region) spreads across the south-west part of the Czech Republic. Its longest border is the one with the Federal Republic of Germany (Bavaria) in the south-west. The location of the region is very favourable, as it is situated at the crossroads between the Czech capital, Praha (Prague), and Western European countries. In terms of its area, Plzeňský kraj ranks as the third-largest region in the Czech Republic. The Pilsen Region is characterized by multiple natural conditions. This diversity is a condition. A significant part of the territory of Plzeňský kraj is covered by forested mountain ranges, the most important of which are the Šumava (Bohemian Forest) in the south, Český les in the south-west and Brdy in the east. The countryside is enriched by numerous water-areas such as Hracholuská přehrada (Hracholusky Dam) on the Mže River, the network of Bolevecké rybníky (Bolevec Ponds) on the outskirts of Plzeň and the ponds in the southern part of the Plzeň area for relief. The entire area is a popular and sought-after destination for tourists. Our region can offer accommodation capacity of more than 1,800 beds and rooms for more than 2000 people. Pilsen region is ideal destination to provide events of all kinds.

Charles Bridge

Červená Lhota Chateau

The unique atmosphere of this water castle, which saw several architectural styles until it received its current neo-Renaissance look, was created by Viennese architect Humbert Walcher of Moltheim, who adapted it to the requirements of early 20th century housing. Baroque conversion can be seen in vaults and stucco interiors. The owners of the chateau, Alexander, Prince of Schönburg-Hartenstein and his son Johann, Prince of Schönburg-Hartenstein, both served as diplomats in various European countries.

South Bohemia is one of the most attractive tourist regions in the Czech Republic. Located in the south along the border with Austria and Germany, it can be visited on the way from Prague to Vienna, Linz or Passau. Here you can find gems such as Český Krumlov (UNESCO), Hluboká nad Vltavou with its beautiful chateau or Holašovice (UNESCO), a typical South Bohemian village with Rustic Baroque architecture. The centre of the region is the town of České Budějovice where the world-famous Budweiser Budvar beer is brewed. South Bohemia is a traditional tourist destination, suitable both for leisure and congress/incentive tourism. It offers number of modern congress halls as well as exclusive historic spaces. High-quality accommodation, complemented by a wide range of local culinary specialities, are a given. Various cultural, sports and social events enhance the experience even more.

WHY SOUTH BOHEMIA?

-  1-hour drive from Prague
-  87 venues for organizing MICE events

Jaroměřice nad Rokytnou Chateau

This Baroque chateau, surrounded by a French-English park, was built during a comprehensive renovation of an original Renaissance chateau. Its richly decorated interiors and furnishings demonstrate how the aristocracy used to live in the 18th and 19th centuries. The basement houses Roman baths and a salla terrena. Dominik Andreas I of Kaunitz and Dominik Andreas II Anton, Prince of Kaunitz-Rietberg-Questenberg, followed the steps of their ancestors and chose a diplomatic career. They served in many European countries.

Vysočina – the right place for your meeting

Vysočina Region with its situation in the very heart of the Czech Republic with the amazing beauty of its hills and valleys is the right place for your successful meetings as well as rest and recreation.

The situation of the Vysočina Region makes it excellently accessible from Prague as well as from Brno by the D1 motorway connecting these two cities and passing along Jihlava, the regional capital with rich historic and cultural tradition.

The unique UNESCO monuments, including the pilgrimage church of St. John of Nepomuk on the Green Mountain in Žďár nad Sázavou, the historic centre of the town of Telč, St. Prokop's basilica and the Jewish quarter in Třebíč and others, offer not only their unique and magnificent spaces for various types of meetings but also interesting programmes held in these venues. The local chateau hotels represent an excellent combination of the absolutely peaceful atmosphere of historic space with technical equipment and background of modern conference centres. You will find here many hotels with long experience in conference tourism as well as newly emerging modern venues and ever extending offer of all sorts of accompanying activities and incentive programmes.

Easy access, safety and one of the least polluted environments in the Czech Republic wait for you right here. Vysočina offers excellent conditions for small and medium-sized events of all kinds for 100 to 200 participants.

Hotels

Congresses, business conventions or seminars are all expertly catered for in the Czech Republic's many hotels. The country and its capital Prague offer wide range of hotels with facilities that can cater even for very large conferences and that will serve your every need. They, of course, also offer great hotel rooms so all your attendees can enjoy a pleasurable stay. Enjoy unparalleled value and gracious hospitality in any one of them.

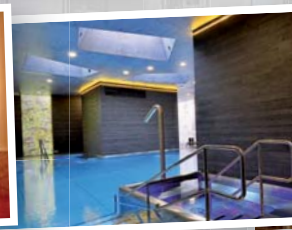

Fürstenberg Palace

The originally Renaissance palace was rebuilt in 1600 in Baroque style. It was again redesigned in 1714 acquiring elements of high Baroque. In 1822, the palace was bought by the Fürstenberg family and was again rebuilt. In 1919, the Polish government purchased the palace from the Fürstenbergs to make it the permanent seat of its diplomatic mission to Czechoslovakia and as of 1994 the Czech Republic.

Buquoy Palace

The large Baroque palace from 1719 located near the Kampa island in the Prague's quarter of Lesser Town was rented to the French government after its owner, Carl Georg Buquoy, decided to move out in 1919. In the same year, the French government set up its diplomatic mission there and purchased the whole palace eleven years later. In 1988, Czech anti-Communist dissidents led by Václav Havel met with French President François Mitterrand at the embassy.

Lobkowicz Palace

The Baroque palace with an extensive garden was finished in 1707. It was acquired by the noble House of Lobkowicz in 1753, who in 1927 sold it to the Czechoslovak state. Since 1973, when then Czechoslovakia established diplomatic with then West Germany, the palace has been serving as the site of the German Embassy. In the eve of the revolutions of 1989, the palace became the resort of numerous East German refugees who had reached Prague, climbed over the fence and camped out in the grounds. Czechoslovak authorities eventually gave in and let them travel directly to West Germany.

„Close to Prague (35 km) near Mělník“

Chateau Liblice is one of the most compact monuments of the Bohemian High Baroque. The first owner was Arnošt Josef Pacht of Rájov. The last owner of the chateau was the Valdštejn family. In 1945, the property passed into the ownership of the state, which transferred it under the administration of the Czech Academy of Sciences.

An extensive reconstruction of the castle was completed in 2007, changing the premises into a modern conference and culturally-educational centre, a stylish castle hotel with restaurants and a relaxing wellness centre. It offers high comfort and hospitality to clients travelling either for business or for relaxation. The 52 rooms are pleasantly furnished, there is a varied scale of restaurants, and perfectly equipped conference premises for different types of events guarantee a nice and productive stay to our guests.

The chateau restaurant, the wine lounge, summer garden, wellness & spa or a chateau garden, all that allows for different kinds of spending free time.

MUNICIPAL HOUSE

The Municipal House has been deservedly proclaimed a national heritage building. It is a treasure whose importance reaches far beyond the Czech Republic's borders.

Come and enjoy the extraordinary atmosphere of beautiful concerts, balls and fashion shows or the elegance of the parlours and restaurants with your friends. Bring your children to this place permeated with important events of Czech history and they will never forget where the Royal Court was once located, which witnessed the proclamation of independent Czechoslovakia in 1918 by the "founding fathers," and in 1989 hosted the first meetings between the communist government and the Civic Forum representatives, led by Václav Havel.

GUIDED TOURS

The tours are in English and Czech language; printed versions of the commentary are available in German, French, Italian, Spanish, Japanese and Russian. The tours take approximately an hour.

For more information on the schedule of concerts, exhibitions and tours, please see the Municipal House website. Tickets for concerts and guided tours can be purchased at the historical ticket office of the Municipal House or online.

Schoenborn Palace

The palace, seat of the U.S. Embassy, was built between 1643 and 1656 by Count Colloredo-Mansfeld, and was remodeled in 1715 by Italian architect Giovanni Santini. The arch leading to the central courtyard is supported by two gigantic caryatids, the work of Matthias Braun, one of the best sculptors of the age.

The palace is referred to as Schoenborn after the last titled owner before it was purchased by Richard Crane, the first U.S. Ambassador to Czechoslovakia. In 1925, Crane sold the palace to the United States Government for $ 117,000.

Thun Palace

The long history of the palace, which is named after the Thun family, goes back to medieval times and there are Gothic traces in the cellars and foundations of the building. In 1919, when Great Britain established relations with the new Czechoslovak Republic, the British leased the Thun Palace as its Legation offices. It has been the Legation, and then the Embassy ever since. In 1925, the British Government bought the palace.

The winery builds on hundreds of years of wine-making tradition in the Litoměřice region - one of the oldest wine-making regions in Bohemia. Wine was grown here as early as 1057, thanks also to significant support from Duke Spitignew II. In the 19th century, the Třebívlice region boasted a hundred hectares of vineyards; unfortunately, they were all destroyed by Phylloxera by 1900. However, the ancient story continues, as now, 100 years later, high-quality wine is grown in this area which is then processed in one of the most modern wineries in the Czech Republic.
